2. Property Summary

(1) Description of Acquired Property

The overview of respective assets is summarized in the tables below.

Unless otherwise stated, descriptions in the tables outline the items that have been found or confirmed by January 31, 2013, in accordance with the explanations shown below. Please refer to the following terminology for these tables. Furthermore, unless otherwise stated, each figure in the tables describing the overview of the respective assets is as of January 31, 2013. In addition, each of the acquired properties or trust assets of beneficiary interests in real property may be referred to as “the Property” in the respective descriptions in the tables below.

(a) Description on location, use, etc.

- “Location (Registry),” “Land Area,” “Completion,” “Total Floor Space” and “Structure/Floors” are based on the information in the real estate registry. Note that “Completion” and “Structure/Floors” are for major buildings only.
- “Building Coverage Ratio” and “Floor Area Ratio” indicate figures determined in accordance with relevant laws and regulations including the Building Standards Act and the City Planning Act (Law No. 100 of 1968, as amended; hereafter “City Planning Act).
- “Zoning” indicates the type of zoning district classified in accordance with Article 8, Paragraph 1, Item 1 of the City Planning Act.
- “Main Use” indicates the primary type of use of buildings stated in the registry.
- “Property Management Company” indicates the property management company to which property management services for each property are entrusted.
- “Total Leasable Floor Space” indicates the total area of leasable spaces of respective logistics facilities and retail facilities, etc. (including the area of common-use spaces, etc. if they are leased). The Total Leasable Floor Space is not an indication on the registry but shows the area indicated in the lease agreements or the calculated areas based on the building completion drawings and other documents. As such, the Total Leasable Floor Space is not necessarily equal to the Total Floor Space based on the indications in the registry and may occasionally surpass the Total Floor Space. Land with leasehold interest indicates the land area in the registry as contracted space.
- “Occupancy Rate” indicates the ratio of the Total Leased Floor to the Total Leasable Floor Space in each property (rounded to the first decimal place).

(b) Other Relevant Information

“Other Relevant Information” indicates not only matters deemed important in terms of rights, use and other issues for respective properties, but also matters deemed important in consideration of the impact on their appraisal value, profitability and disposability.

Note: This press release is a public announcement regarding the completion of property acquisitions of the Fund, and has not been prepared as an inducement or invitation for investment. (Note 1) “Appraisal Value” indicates the figures appraised by respective real estate appraisers.

The real estate appraisal values are no more than an indication of the opinions on the value of the appraised real estate at the time of appraisal of respective real estate appraisers (appraisal institutions) that appraised the properties in accordance with the Act on Real Estate Appraisal (Law No. 152, 1963), real estate appraisal standards, etc. Reappraisal of the real estate may result in different appraisal values depending on the real estate appraiser, methods of appraisal or period. Also, the appraisal values of real estate do not promise or guarantee the possibility of transactions at present or in the future at the indicated appraisal values.

Furthermore, the cost approach and income approach (direct capitalization approach or discounted cash flow approach) are used in calculating the appraisal values. The income approach is used if the real estate's price is based on an emphasis on investment profitability in the market and it is seen as an investment target for qualified institutional investors, etc. The cumulative value of the cost approach is used as an index to verify the capitalization approach price.

Among methods of seeking the indicated value by the income approach (a method of seeking the estimated value of real estate by seeking the sum of the present value of the net revenue the real estate is expected to generate in the future), the direct capitalization approach is a method where the net revenue in a certain period is restored using the capitalization rate.

Among methods of seeking the indicated value by the income approach, the discounted cash flow approach is a method where the net revenues and return value arising in multiple successive periods are discounted to present value according to their periods and totaled.

Note: This press release is a public announcement regarding the completion of property acquisitions of the Fund, and has not been prepared as an inducement or invitation for investment. In addition, this press release does not constitute an offer of securities for sale in the U.S. Securities may not be offered or sold in the U.S. without registration of the securities or gaining an exemption from registration of securities under the U.S. Securities Act of 1933. Any public offering of securities to be conducted in the U.S. will be made by means of an English prospectus prepared in accordance with the U.S. Securities Act of 1933 that may be obtained from the issuer of the securities or holder of the securities. The prospectus will contain detailed information about the issuer and its management, as well as its financial statements.

- (Note 2) “NOI” indicates the net operating income calculated by the direct capitalization approach shown in the appraisal report for properties other than land with leasehold interest, and the initial-year net operating income calculated by the discounted cash flow approach shown in the appraisal report for land with leasehold interest, both rounded down to the nearest million yen. Accordingly, the total of “NOI” of respective properties may not be the same with the value shown in the Total column. Furthermore, NOI represents income before deducting depreciation, and is different from NCF (net cash flow) that adds management profits such as leasehold deposits to NOI and deducts capital expenditures from NOI.
- (Note 3) “NOI Yield (NOI÷Acquisition Price (Scheduled))” indicates the figures obtained by dividing the NOI value by the acquisition price (scheduled), rounded to the first decimal place. Furthermore, the “Logistics Subtotal,” “Retail Subtotal” and “Total” indicate the figures obtained by dividing the sum total of the NOI of respective acquired assets (scheduled) by the sum total of the acquisition price (scheduled), rounded down to the first decimal place.
- (Note 4) The discount rate of Landport Urayasu is 5.0% for the 1st to 2nd years since the appraisal date and 5.1% for the 3rd to 11th years since the appraisal date.
- (Note 5) The discount rate of Landport Itabashi is 5.1% for the 1st to 2nd years since the appraisal date and 5.2% for the 3rd to 11th years since the appraisal date.

(Note 1) “Greater Tokyo” refers to Tokyo Prefecture, Kanagawa Prefecture, Chiba Prefecture and Saitama Prefecture. “Kinki Area” refers to Osaka Prefecture, Kyoto Prefecture, Hyogo Prefecture and Nara Prefecture. “Chukyo Area” refers to Aichi Prefecture, Gifu Prefecture and Mie Prefecture. “Other Areas” refers to cabinet-order designated cities, prefectural capitals, and cities having a population of at least 100,000 and their peripheral areas, excluding Greater Tokyo, Kinki Area and Chukyo Area.

(Note 2) “Leasable Floor Space” is the total floor space of logistics facilities, retail properties, etc. that each asset is able to lease (if common-use space and such are leased, such are included). Leasable floor space is not what is indicated in registries but is rather floor space calculated based on area, completion drawings, etc. in the lease agreements and therefore will not necessarily be the same as total floor space based on the registry and may exceed the total floor space. For land with leasehold interest, the area of land in the registry is indicated as contracted area.

(Note 3) “Leased Floor Space” is the floor space which is being leased to end tenants with actually concluded lease agreements. (This is the floor space indicated in lease agreements. However, for areas of logistics facilities and retail properties (if all of a rental room is collectively leased, then the whole area of the rental room), leased areas such as parking lots are not included. However, if the Master Lessee has a master lease for part or all of a rental room with a guaranteed rental scheme, the section is included into leased floor area regardless of whether or not there is a lease agreement with an end tenant). For land with leasehold interest, the leased floor area of the land with leasehold interest is indicated.

Note: This press release is a public announcement regarding the completion of property acquisitions of the Fund, and has not been prepared as an inducement or invitation for investment. In addition, this press release does not constitute an offer of securities for sale in the U.S. Securities may not be offered or sold in the U.S. without registration of the securities or gaining an exemption from registration of securities under the U.S. Securities Act of 1933. Any public offering of securities to be conducted in the U.S. will be made by means of an English prospectus prepared in accordance with the U.S. Securities Act of 1933 that may be obtained from the issuer of the securities or holder of the securities. The prospectus will contain detailed information about the issuer and its management, as well as its financial statements.

(Note 4) “Occupancy Rate” is sought as the ratio of leased floor space against the total leasable floor space of each asset (figures are rounded to the first decimal place).

(Note 5) Regarding the calculation of the number of tenants, the lessee of a master lease agreement is counted as one when part or all of a rental room is collectively leased for the purpose of subleasing and the lessee in the lease agreement (master lease agreement) has concluded an agreement with the end tenant (sublessee that is actually using the room) for subleasing the rental room. However, the total number of end tenants is indicated for assets with so-called pass-through scheme master lease agreements where the rent received from lessees in the master lease agreement is equal to the rent that the lessee receives from end tenants. Also, if several rental rooms are being leased to the same tenant at a certain asset, this is counted as one tenant, and if space in multiple assets is being leased to the same tenant, they are counted separately, and the total number of tenants is indicated in the subtotal and total sections.

(Note 6) For each asset, the annual rent is 12 times the amount of one month’s rent and common service fees in lease agreements actually concluded with end tenants that are valid as of the end of January 2013 (amounts below one million yen are rounded off). (If common-use space, etc. is being leased based on the lease agreement, rents for such are included, and if rents include the amount equivalent for using parking space, such are included. Also, if the Master Lessee has a master lease for part or all of a rental room with a guaranteed rental scheme, the rent for that section is based on the rent, etc. in the lease agreement concluded with the Master Lessee.) Therefore, the total amount of annual rent revenue from each tenant may not be the same amount as the amounts indicated in the subtotal and total sections. Furthermore, regarding tenants who have been exempt from rent payment for a certain period of time in their agreements, such exemption periods are not considered in the above table and the rents are calculated based on the monthly rent and common service fees after the exemption periods end. Also, the standard levels of rents are used for tenants with rents that depend on sales.

(Note 7) “Leasehold and Security Deposits” is the total balance of leasehold and security deposits indicated in the lease agreements with end tenants of each asset as of the end of January 2013 (amounts below one million yen are rounded off). Therefore, the total amount of leasehold and security deposits from each property may not be the same amount as the amounts indicated in the subtotal and total sections.

(Note 8) Undisclosed as consent has not been obtained from tenants.
